Masonic Memorial Association To Meet

Expected That Plans and Specifications Will be Adopted Tuesday The Twelfth Annual Meeting—Model of Temple Here

WILL START WORK THIS YEAR

Temple With Landscape Gardening Will Cost About $2,000,000—Association in Addition to Have Endowment Fund of $500,000 Bringing Total to be Raised to $2,500,000—Expect 200 Delegates to Attend—Temple Will be 200 Feet High and Will be Erected in George Washington Park.

The twelfth annual convention of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association will meet in this city at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Masonic Temple. It is expected that 200 delegates will attend. The purpose of the association is for the erection of a memorial temple to George Washington the Mason on George Washington Park at the western end of the city. The proposed temple and landscape gardening will cost approximately $2,000,000 and their will be an endowment fund of $500,000 will be kept. More than a million dollars has been raised in cash and pledges, tenative plans for the temple prepared and will be submitted for radification to the association Tuesday morning. In the event of their ratification, regarded as more than probable, the actual work of construction will begin this year.

Delegates who arrive here Monday will be tendered an informal reception at night in the Masonic Temple. The business session of the association will convene promptly at 9:30 o'clock the morning of February 21 in the Masonic Temple and following invocation there will be an address of welcome by James H. Price, grand master of the Masons in Virginia after which will come the regular order of business. Luncheon will be served at three o'clock in the afternoon and the convention will reassemble at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon for business. That night at 7:30 o'clock there will be a state communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons and the conferring of the Master Mason degree.

The second and last day's session of the association will be held Wednesday, Februrry 22. It will open at 9 o'clock with invocation followed by the regular order of business. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 in the afternoon and at 2:30 o'clock the delegates will make a prilgrimage to Mt. Vernon. That night, Washington's birthday, at 7:30 o'clock there will be a stated communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge and the annual celebration of Washington's birthday will take place. This will be held in the lodge room of Alexandria Lodge of Elks. At this celebration an address of welcome will be delivered by James H. Price, grand master of Masons in Virginia. Other speakers on the list will be Louis A. Watres, president of the Memorial Association; Melvin M. Johnson, past grand master, Georgia; Andrew L. Randell, past grand master, Texas.

The last report on the account of money collected for the temple received by Charles H. Callahan, local secretary, showed that the amount of cash in the treasury for the temple was $625,000 with a large number of pledges which would raise this amount to from $1,200,000 to $1,500,000. Since the receipt of this information a number of states have made returns the amount of which will not be made public till the meeting of the association Tuesday.

The plan to raise the money adopted at the last meeting of the association has been carried into effect with the utmost satisfaction. Personal representatives of the association working under the immediate direction of the various grand masters have been appointed in forty-five states and about forty of these representatives have signified their intention to be present at the meeting which will be held next Tuesday. All but two jurisdictions have joined the association.

Strange to say the grand lodges holding allegiance to Masonary in our insular possessions such as the grand lodge of the Philippines and Porto Rico have not only joined, but the grand lodge of the Phillipine Islands has contributed $1,500 to the temple fund. Porto Rico also made a substancial contribution and donations have been received from lodges in the Panama Canal and Alaska.

There are 2,540,000 Freemasons in continental America and it is intended to raise a sum of equal to one dollar per capita which from present prospects will be accomplished in a very short while.

About 150 representatives from the grand Masonic bodies in the United States are expected to attend this meeting and participate. These in addition to state chairmen referred to above will make a grand total of about 200 delegates who will attend.

This movement has been gradually growing. The first meeting held here in 1910 was a small and insignificent affair, only eighteen delegates being present, but each and every year has witnessed a substantial increase in the number of representatives indicating clearly the increasing interest among the fraternity throughout the country as the objects of the movement became more definitely understood. A large number of jurisdictions and among them some of the far western states have already contributed their entire quota and several have subscribed more than the amount requestd. Massachusetts for instance, with 93,000 Masons has collected and turned in $110,000 and the District of Columbia has exceeded her quota as has also Connecticut. Delaware, North Dakota, Utah and a number of others.

The temple will be erected in George Washington Park on a lot of ground containing thirty acres, the western

LEWIS VICTOR IN LABOR FIGHT BY SMALL VOTE

Wages All Day Battle With Howat For Control of Mine Workers

RUN NECK AND NECK

Issues of Far-Reaching Importance Are Involved in Stubborn Fight With Insurgents

Indianapolis, Feb. 18.—The Lewis administration forces yesterday defeated the Howat radicals and Farrington insurgents in the fight for mastery in the United Mine Workers' organization, according to the unofficial figures.

Farrington and Howat accepted the unofficial figures as final. Farrington was defiant and called Lewis a "dead bird." Howat said he supposed the only place for him is Russia.

The fighting in the convention yesterday was thrilling—a wonderful horse race. From 9 o'clock until nearly 6 the balloting was under way and not until the last tiny block of votes cast at nightfall was the decision certain.

Exact figures are not available at this time. The tabulation showed Lewis the victor by 105 votes in a total of 3,879 cast by 2,000 delegates, some of whom represented locals that had more than one vote. Lewis had 1,992 and Howat and Farrington 1,887. These figures approximate the other unofficial figures. The official figures may not be available until later.

Repeatedly during the balloting the lead passed from one side to the other. Repeatedly the opponents ran neck-and-neck, separated by less than a score of votes.

Several times the totals for each side were exactly even. Nothing like it is recalled in the history of labor politics. and seldom has there been any sort of convention in late years in which the fighting was so desperately stubborn. In its tension this convention is comparable only to the Baltimore convention that first nominated Woodrow Wilson for President.

The issue was of vast importance, Far more was involved than the question whether John L. Lewis, president of the miners' international organization, was to maintain his power against the attack of Alexander Howat, of Kansas, and Farrington, of Illinois. There also was involved immediately the character of the campaign to be waged by the miners in the great test of strength with operators of the country that is just ahead. There was involved ultimately the fate of prabably the most powerful single labor organization in the country.

Had Lewis been beaten, he might have remained in the presidency of the organization, but inevitably he would have been weakened disastrously in the impending fight with operators. He probably is seriously weakened anyway, because of the demonstration of strength against him. Beyond the impending fight would have loomed, in the event of his defeat the question what was to become of an organization in which the extreme radical, Howat, and the suspiciously-regarded labor politicians Farrington, had acquired joint control.

RESERVATIONS TO FOUR POWER PACT LIKELY

One Prevents Use of Armed Forces Except By Direction of Congress

PENALTY IN SECOND

Finance Committee of Senate is Gathering Material For Fighting Opponents of Measure

Washington, Feb. 18.—The Administration moved to hasten ratification of the Arms Conference treaties yesterday by bringing quickly to the surface all the principal issues involved in their consideration by the Senate.

As a result a move for several reservations to the four-power pact was revealed. One reservation, which has gained considerable headway in the Foreign Relations Committee, would prevent use of armed forces without the express authorization of Congress. Some Republican members think it will be adopted.

A second reservation talked of would provide for automatic termination of the agreement should any signatory power violate it. Several drafts of each of these proposals have been prepared by individual Senators, although neither has been formally presented in the committee or definitely indorsed by any organized Senate group.

Republican leaders on the committee completed a preliminary survey of opinion on every one of the eight Conference agreements laid before the Senate, with the result that it became apparent against what particular points the opposition was preparing to direct its heaviest fire.

At the same time President Harding canvassed opinion in the American delegation regarding the Senate request for full information on the Four-Power treaty negotiations and let it be known that his reply to the resolution of request would be sent to the Capitol not later than Monday. He is expected to tell the Senate in a brief message that no stenographic record of the negotiations was kept or was practicable.

The committee discussions, which began Thursday, developed few surprises in their disclosure of Senate sentiment. In the view of Republican leaders they confirmed the expectation that the Four-Power treaty would encounter greatest opposition; that the naval limitation treaty would be questioned by some Senators because of its provision against further fortification of Guam and the Philippines and that the general Far Eastern and Chinese tariff treaties might have some opponents among those who had hoped to see the Conference give China a greater measure of independence from foreign interference.

The treaties relating to the Island of Yap and to submarines and poison gas now are expected by the leaders to meet with the least opposition of all, and some Senators believe they may go through without a dissenting vote.

With the formal reading of the general Far Eastern and Chinese tariff treaties Thursday, the committee completed its formal preliminary examination of all the Arms Conference pacts except that relating to Yap. The Yap treaty also has been discussed in a general way without formal reading and is expected to come up again when the committee meets Monday. At the same meeting the Presidents reply on the four-Power treaty is expected to make it possible to resume consideration of that instrument.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Feb. 18.—The legal research department of the Woman's Party with headquarters in Washington is engaged in the most comprehensive study of legislation affecting women ever undertaken in this country. The laws of each of the forty-eight states are being studied for the purpose of discovering the exact legal status of the women of each state. These studies cover the state constitutions, all statutes enacted to and including the last session of the state legislatures and judicial decisions bearing upon the interpretation of the law. Reports have been completed for several of the states, including Virginia.

The Woman's Party finds that Virginia discriminates against females in the following ways:

Fathers are given practically complete control over their children and mothers almost no control; a woman cannot choose her home or say of whom the family circle shall consist; a married woman's property is presumed to belong to her husband, unless proof of the contrary is shown; inheritance laws discriminate against women; grounds for divorce are unequal; women cannot serve on juries; women are not admitted on equal terms to the state university.

There was a report in circulation here today that former President and Mrs. Wilson were to leave Washington this afternoon for a trip to Bermuda. Inquiry among the friends of the former President developed the fact that neither he nor his wife has any intention of leaving

BILL FOR IRISH FREE STATE ON SECOND READING

Amendment to Alter Boundary Commission Provisions Loses 302 to 60

TRICKERY IS DENIED

Lloyd George Replies to Charge of Varying Promises to Collins and Craig

London, Feb. 18.—The bill establishing the Irish Free State passed its second reading in the House of Commons yesterday, after the amendment offered by Capt. Charles Craig, leader of the Ulster Unionists, for altering the boundary commission provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty, had been defeated.

With the amendment decisively defeated, the second reading was adopted without a division.

The amendment stipulated that in view of the fact that the treaty provided for the creation of a boundary commission and that such provision was in direct abrogation of Ulster's rights as secured by the Government of Ireland act of 1920 and a breach of the pledges given by the Prime Minister, the House declined to proceed with the second reading until the Government had given assurance that the provision in question would be eliminated or that any decision of the boundary commission should only take effect after approval of the North ern Parliament had been given.

Former Premier Asquith vigorously supported the bill in the debate before the vote, saying the boundary question was an integral part of the treaty and that it would be impossible for the Government or the Parliament to escape the charge of gross bad faith if there were any repudiation of that part of the agreement.

Prime Minister Lloyd George contradicted to Ulster member's assertion that the Government has assured Sir James Craig that the boundary adjustment would be of a minor character, while promising Michael Collins extensive changes.

A heated altercation ensued between Mr. Moles and Mr. Lloyd George over this point.

Ulster demands a straight deal, exclaimed Mr. Moles, who said in conclusion:

"If a breach is made in the wall surrounding the Ulster area and invasion is attempted we will stand in the breach and defend it or fill it with

EXPECT DRAFT OF BONUS BILL IN TEN DAYS

Chairman Fordney States He Will Then Submit Measure to Conference

FORM IS UNDECIDED

Sentiment Fails to Center on Any One Plan Following Presidents Letter

Washington, Feb. 18.—During a partisan debate over the soldier bonus in the House yesterday, Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, announced that the majority of that committee "will have ready a bonus bill within 10 days and will submit it to a Republican conference."

Chairman Fordney did not indicate what sort of a bonus bill the committee would bring out, nor was there any crystalization of sentiment at the Capitol following the President's suggestion that the soldier compensation must be financied through a sales tax or the entire plan postponed. Majority members of the Ways and Means Committee held another meeting without making material progress

It was declared by sales tax advocates that this idea was gaining ground. On the other hand, Representative Frear, of the Ways and Means Committee, a staunch opponent of the sales tax, predicted that there would be 100 Republican votes against such a measure and that Democratic support would stop its passage in the House.

President Harding declined to say what course he would pursue should Congress present to him a bonus bill out of harmony with the suggestions in his letter to Mr. Fordney yesterday The President indicated that he felt he should not answer hypothetical questions; that Congress now knew where he stood on the bonus issue, and he would not outline his probable action should Congress disregard his views.

On the Senate side the bonus situation remained practically unchanged, although leaders continued to predict it would be impossible to put a sales tax through the upper chamber no matter what the House does.

The Senate apparently is inclined to let the House Ways and Means Committee wrestle with the bonus matter and await the framing of a bill in the lower chamber.

There were suggestions on both sides today that the cash bonus idea may have to be abandond and a compromise plan of land grants and paid up insurance substituted because of the present condition of the Treasury. This suggestion, however, has not yet made appreciable headway.

The definite promise of Mr. Fordney that there will be a bonus bill in a few days came during a debate started by Representative Jack Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat of the Ways and Means Committee, who charged that the majority members of the committe were holding executive sessions and hearing witnesses speaking for the American Legion. Mr. Garner admitted the privilege of the majority to hold executive meetings, but contended the entire membership of the committee should be present when witnesses are heard.

BODY OF INFANT FOUND IN BOX

Young Woman Seen to Deposit Box on School Lot

Slip Found in Box Bearing Name of Washington Woman May Help Police in Work

The body of a fully developed female infant was found about 9 o'clock this morning on the Henry St. side of the Lee School lot at Prince and Henry Streets by a young man named Wood living in the neighborhood. Mr. Wood immediately notified the police headquarters and the body was brought to police station by Policeman Lawrence Padgett.

The police later ascertained that a young woman was seen to deposit the box a few minutes before it was found. The box is a long pasteboard affair for women's dresses and bears the name of Hecht and Co., Washington. In the box was found a sales slip from that store made out to a Washington woman living on K street, northwest, for a dress purchased January 16 for the sum of $16.

Chief Goods immediately notified the Washington authorities and they are endeavoring to find some trace of the abandoned body.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

HOUSE

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:53 p. m., until noon today.

J. W. Worthington, representing the Tennessee River Improvement association, in testimony before the military affairs committee regarding disposition of the governments Muscle Shoals Ala., power project, estimated that 1,000,000 horsepower could be developed in the upper Tennessee river in addition to 750,000 horsepower at Muscle Shoals.

Chairman Kahn, of the military affairs committee, announced adjournment of the hearings until Monday.

A meeting of Republican members of the ways and means committee for consideration of the soldier bonus bill was limited to a discussion of the general problem without going into the tax-raising question.

At the conclusion of the meeting some of those who had participated in it predicted that a bonus bill would shortly be reported to the House. It was said there was some discussion of reducing or eliminating entirely the cash payment provisions of the five-option bonus bill sponsored by Chairman Fordney.

Later Chairman Fordney announced that a soldier bonus bill would be reported to a Republican caucus within the next ten days and predicted that the measure would be passed by a Republican House.

A bill for incorporation of the National Association of American World War Mothers was introduced by Chairman McFadden, of the House banking committee.

Argument for and against the Anthony bill, which would authorize creation of areas for protection and propagation of migratory birds, was presented at a hearing before the House agriculture committee.

Representative Ward (Democrat) North Carolina, expressed opposition, as did Thomas Riggs, former governor of Alaska, who declared he was opposed to Federal administration of

ALDERMEN DEFEAT PLAN FOR WHITEWAY

Following Its Defeat Aldermen Rammel and Batcheller Resign

LACKED ONE VOTE

Four Voted for Measure and Three Against It—Measure May Come up Again.

Receiving one less than the required number of votes, the board of aldermen last night defeated the proposition for a white way on King street between Fairfax and Patrick streets, a distance of seven squares. The vote for the measure was 4 to 3 and it required five votes, or a majority of the entire membership of the board which is eight. There was one absentee, President F F. Marbury, who is confind to his home on account of illness.

Immediately after the vote had been taken and announced, William L. Rammel of the second ward, and C. C. Batcheller of the fourth ward, tendered their resignations as members of the board, being dissatisfied as the action of the board in failing to pass the measure. On motion of Alderman Robert F. Green the resignations were laid on the table

In the absence of President Marbury the meeting was presided over by Vice President C. J. W. Summers, When the ordinance for the white way, which was adopted by common council last Tuesday night by a vote of 11 to 3, was read, the vice president asked if there were any amendments to the measure whereupon Alderman Green presented an amendment providing that the white way be extended from Fairfax street to Union station, a distance of eight more squares than provided for in the original ordinance. Mr. Green explained that this would give all the same benefit, adding that the white way might eventually be extended west of Patrick street but that the people on King street west of Patrick street would suffer while they were waiting.

A vote then was taken on Mr. Green's amendment and it was defeated by a vote of 4 to 3. Those for the amendment were Messrs. Robinson, Green and Summers and those against it were Messrs. Anderson, Wilkins, Rammel and Batcheller

This was followed by a vote on the original ordinance and those for the ordinance were Messrs. Anderson, Wilkins, Rammel and Batcheller and those against it were Messrs. Robinson, Green and Summers.

City Engineer E. C. Dunn, who attended the meeting, was called on by Alderman Rammel to give his views on the matter and Mr. Dunn explained that the merchants on the seven squares on King street proposed to be

800 DIVORCES GRANTED IN PAST 18 MONTHS

Report Will Show When Submitted This Afternoon

30 "SUSPICIOUS" CASES

More Than 50 Per Cent of Those Who Obtained Divorces Were Non Residents——Many From Washington.

Approximately 800 divorce suits were granted in the corporation court of this city during the past eighteen months and at the present time there are more than 250 suits pending in the court.

That the divorce practice of this city has assumed these large proportions during the period when it has been charged that the business received its great boom, will be shown when the committee investigating the alleged divorce evil meets late this afternoon and receives the final report of the subcommittee which has made a complete tabulation of every divorce case in the files of the court from May 1, 1920 to the present date. The report will contain the figures mentioned above and many others of a detail nature and incident to the practice.

For instance the figures will show that the name of Mrs. Mary L. Baggett who conducts a rooming house at 119 1-2 South Royal street appears in 140 of the total number of suits granted. In other words Mrs. Baggett is shown in the report to have made an affidavit that the applicant had resided at her home for the required period, in 140 separate suits.

The name of Mrs. Stella Bensel who conducts a rooming house in South Pitt street appears in 27 cases and that of Robert Luckett appears on 21 affidavits.

It will be shown further by the tabulation that Davis and Budwesky attorneys with offices in South Royal street appeared in more than one fourth of the total number of suits during the period in question. In the tabulation this firm is shown to have had 210 suits. R. B. Washington an attorney appeared in 132 cases and Charles Henry Smith an attorney and a delegate to the House of delegates had 68 cases.

Another interesting feature in connection with the tabulation is that the committee will call special attention to at least 30 cases which it considers as being "suspicious and deserving of further investigation. Also, it is shown that of the total number of suits granted more than 50 per cent were non residents of the State and a large percentage of these non residents were residents of Washington, D. C. Also of the total number of suits approximately 37 per cent were not served with any notice or publication regarding the filing of the suit.

BAR ASSOCIATION REPORT

This afternoon the sub-committee of the Bar Association are to make their final report as to their investigation into alleged irregularities in the obtaining of divorces in Alexandria. We understand that they have completed their tabulation of the divorce cases filed in the Corporation Court from May 1, 1920, to the present time. Their report, so we are informed, includes the names of the attorneys represented in the suits and the names of the witnesses upon whose testimony the decrees were rendered. Probably no recommendation will be made by the sub-committee, that being left to the whole committee appointed by the Bar Association.

On Wednesday next, 22d instant, the examination of witnesses will be begun by the main committee, and upon the testimony therein developed, we presume, will depend the recommendations that may be made to the Association. The Gazette, in common with all good citizens, desires only a fair and impartial hearing. If this developes the fact that laws have been violated or dishonorable methods resorted to by practising attorneys—as the Gazette has previously stated in its editorial columns, the guilty ones should be punished.

We have entire confidence in the gentlemen composing the committee, and feel assured that the investigation will be thorough and conclusive.

RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS

The seventeenth annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress takes place in Washington on March 1 and 2. The development of the waterways of a country is of the first importance. The Congress has labored for many years in this direction and the results achieved speak well for its efforts.

The time may come when Alexandria will be vitally interested in certain improvements on the Potomac, and when that arrives, the National Rivers and Harbors Congress will be found an influential agency to attain the desired end. In the meantime, it will be well to observe the proceedings and watch the rest of the country interested in waterways, so that when we are ready we will at least be posted in the modus operandi and be prepared to make a good start.

THE GREAT WHITE WAY

The Board of Aldermen met last night and recommitted the proposed ordinance establishing a Great White Way on King street, Alexandria's main thoroughfare. The vote was four in favor to three against. Five votes, or a majority of the entire board of eight members, being necessary for the adoption of the measure, it was thus lost.

The Gazette refrains from all comment, whatsoever. We do not believe, nevertheless, that a matter so important to Alexandria, and one that unquestionably has the endorsement of the great majority of our citizens—is permanently defeated.

We regret beyond measure the resignations of Aldermen Rammell and Batcheller. At the request of a number of their constituents, we urge them to reconsider their action and withdraw their resignations. To this request the Gazette joins its own. What they did is perhaps pardonable. In the ardor of their convictions and their overwhelming desire to realize the first step towards a Greater Alexandria, they acted on the impulse of a moment of bitter defeat. But great things are accomplished only through struggle and sternest opposition. The Gazette believes that at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen, on Tuesday, 28th instant, this most honorable body of our fellow-citizens may be persuaded to reconsider their action of last night, and pass the ordinance. We must insist on the withdrawal of these resignations. Messrs. Rammel and Batcheller will readily see, on second thought, that their actions will have the heartiest approval of all enemies of Greater Alexandria, if such there be. In fact, nothing more effective from the viewpoint of these latter could be desired. They simply must not give up the ship at this stage of endeavor. Whom will their constituents have to represent them in this important branch of our municipal government? Upon whom can the lovers of this historic old city and its well-wishers depend if their friends desert them in this hour of their need? However worthy their motives, however just they may deem their cause of provocation, it is a time to sink all personal feeling, to subdue all desires of a personal nature, and make the sacrifice for a Greater Alexandria. It is only by sinking self, anyway, that large things are ever accomplished.

The Gazette wishes it understood emphatically that it impugns the motives of no one; that it has no criticism to offer, or reproaches to make at this juncture. It seeks rather to place the whole controversy on a higher plane. It importunes those aldermen who may differ in their views from the vast majority of their fellow-citizens, to think again, and to reconsider the matter, if possible, from other viewpoints.

We have been given to understand on the best authority, that Alderman Marbury, the president of the Board of Aldermen, who was unavoidably absent last night on account of regrettable illness, is in favor of the measure. We sincerely trust, that, on his own account as well, he will be able to attend the next meeting of the Board, and that the ordinance may pass.

Again we urge those aldermen who voted adversely last night to consider well what this step means to Alexandria; and if there is any room in the premises of their own reasoning for doubt, to resolve that doubt in favor of what appears to be a step forward and upward for that city which is firmly fixed in the affections of all as their chosen abiding place on earth. We should say that it is a safe rule to follow that as between apparent progress and apparent regress it is always the right thing to do to cast one's vote in favor of the former.

The Gazette has lost neither its faith nor its hope. We firmly believe that the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen will set this matter aright!

Alexandria!

Alexandria is to have a white way. The common council of Washington's historic neighbor has voted that King street for seven squares from Fairfax to Patrick shall glow as nearly like noon of a June day as electric lights can do the job. Excellent! Advertising pays! Well lighted streets advertise a city, make for business and show to everybody that a town is not only alight but alive. Dim streets are out of line with modern ways. And many of Washington's streets are dim. Alexandria, when the new white light proves to all Alexandrians that it is a great, good thing on King street, will brighten up all the other streets at night. If Washington does not turn more light into some of its streets men may sometimes say that Alexandria is a city of light and Washington a city of gloom.—(Editorial, Washington Star.)

Progressive Spirit is Praised

Writer To Mayor Voices Approval of Proposed White Way—Also Favors Turnpike to Fairfax, Ferry to Maryland Side And Municipal Pier.

L. F. Wakefield, of Washington, has written a letter to Mayor Duncan in which the writer takes occasion to laud the progressive spirit of the mayor, business men of the city and chamber of commerce for their move to improve the city looking to a greater Alexandria.

The writer in part says: "I am certainly glad we are going to have a highway connecting Alexandria with the Valley of Virginia, opening up to Alexandria the finest section of the state. With that assured get your board to fight for the proposed ferry line across to the Maryland side of the Potomac, also start interest along the idea of a municipal pier on the water front. This will attract people to visit Alexandria and prove a much needed stimulant. I have discussed the proposed pier with a number of Alexandrians and all expressed themselves as heartily favoring the proposition.

With a white way extending to the river front, plenty of clean amusements including music and a dance pavilion and, in fact, a real place of clean enjoyment will benefit your city and cause needed change.

"Thanking you and your board for your efficient and untiring efforts regarding the highway to Fairfax Courthouse, making it possible for me to erect a modern bungalow at my old home place in Annandale, I beg to remain, yours truly, slope fronting Alexandria. The heighth of the elevation above tidewater is 145 feet and the temple will tower 200 feet above this, overlooking and commanding a splendid view of Washington, the Potomac river and bring its apex, or observatory Mount Vernon in Plain view.

L. F. Wakefield.

MASONIC MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION MEET

The proposed temple will be 150 by 200 feet and will comprise lodge, commandry, chapter and rooms for other Masonic bodies including a room for the members of the association to meet each year.

Apartments have been provided for a museum, a memorial hall, art gallery, executive offices and library also an auditorium with a seating capacitay of about 1,200 persons.

Even now the view of Washington from the elevation is most imposing and when the temple is completed it will be easily visibile not only from the capitol and other high buildings, but from the streets of Washington as well.

In the room provided for the purpose will be deposited the relics of Alexandria-Washington Lodge which room itself will be of deep interest to the public as well as members of the Masonic order, as it will be an exact reproduction of the lodge room erected by Washington's contemporatives in 1802 in which the collection now priceless in a historic and monetary sense were first deposited when they came gratutious from the relitaves and friends of the great patriot.

One of the interesting features connected with the site of the memorial is a well preserved fortification of the war between the states. It constituted one of the outer defences of the city of Washington and was, and is still known as Fort Ellworth. The association does not contemplate destroying this landmark, but will endeavorto preserve it in its present condition as a curosity. The cost of the temple will be $1,500,000 and the landscape gardening will cost about $400,000 and the endowment fund will be one-fourth of the sum expended, or about $500,000. The committee in charge has not definately determined what the temple will be built of, but it is regarded as almost certain that it will be constructed of white marble.

The tentative plans, a model of of which has just ben received, have been prepared by Helmle and Corbett, of New York, with Osgood and Osgood, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, as consulting architects and Olmsted Brothers, of Brookline, Mass., as

The most important business that will come before the association at its meeting Tuesday will be the final consideration of the plans for the temple and the perfecting of the organization collecting the fund which it is hoped to raise within the next two year.

The movement to erect a memorial temple here to place the priceless relics of Washington now stored in the lodge room of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons was launched about twelve years ago by Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons of Alexandria. The promoters at the time did not dream of making the affair a national one, and as the movement became discussed the proposition soon became national in its scope and before the close of 1922 promises to see the cornerstone laid of one of the greatest and only one of its kind in the shape of a Masonic Temple in the United States as a memorial to George Washington the Mason's first master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Alexandria.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Former Comrades Pay Last Tribute to Slain Director

As a last tribute to William Desmond Taylor, the slain motion-picture director, Canadian ex-soldiers acted as a guard of honor and fired a volley over the grave of their former comrade and officer. Thousands gathered outside of his home, in the streets of Hollywood, and at his burial to pay their last respects as his body was carried to the grave.

Here are students at the National Baking School, in London, who offered to make the wedding cake for Priness Mary, who accepted. The students are busily engaged preparing the ingredients for the cake, a gift from the National Association of Master Bakers. It is but one of the many indications of the warm-hearted response by people in all walks of life who are sending their gifts to the Princess, who soon will marry Viscount Lascelles.

THURSDAY, FEB. 17, 1814.

Extract of a letter from New York, dated

New York, Jan. 26, 1814.—I have had the pleasure of meeting with your friend S——t, who has lately returned from Europe, and was in Paris at the time of the Emperor's return from Russia. A few days after he made his appearance in his Capital, at a large party when some houndreds of fashionables were present, a representation of a Panorame of Moscow (then exhibiting in the City) was handed about the room, the word Panorama being erased and Moscow in large letters painted on the wall—at the Gate Bonaparte appeared offering his entrance money, and the Cossack Sentinel, bowing says to him—Sire! vous payerez en sortant.

AT RICHMOND

LEGISLATION

Speaker Brewer called the House of Delegates to order at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Appropriations Committee reported out the budget bill, and the bill making an appropriation of $750,000 for the erection of a state office building.

Delegate Marvin Smithey, of Brunswick, offered a resolution reaffirming the pledge of the House that no bond issue be voted at this session, and after debate, the same was adopted by a vote of 47 to 25.

Delegate Page, of Norfolk, offered an amendment to the report of the Rules Committee, adding the Page-Brown pilotage bill as a special and continuing order for Thursday at 12 o'clock, which, after debate, was agreed to by a vote of 49 to 25.

Senator Gunn reported that the Senate had agreed to the joint resolution continuing the commission on tuberculosis.

Senator Mills brought over the Senate joint resolution on Near East Relief and asked concurrence.

House bill 252, the bill carrying amendments to the prohibition bill, was taken up at 1 o'clock as a special and continuing order. A few minor amendments were made, among them one reducing the profit of the druggist handling whisky from 100 to 50 per cent, and another providing that the liquor sold by druggists shall be of high grade and standard proof.

The House adjourned at 2.20 to meet this morning at 10 o'clock.

The Senate yesterday agreed to make educational bills a special and continuing order for Monday at 12:35 o'clock, with the understanding that they do not displace any other special orders now pending. The bills are No. 172, making the county the school unit; No. 142, extending for one year the contracts on schoolbooks, and House bill No. 8, on compulsory education. Senator C. O'Conor Goolrick agreed to permit Senate bill No. 35, the State highway bill, and Senate bill No. 94, the Hampton Roads commission bill, to be included in the special order.

Under a rule adopted last week by both branches of the General Assembly, today will be the last opportunity for the introduction of bills with the exception of measures dealing with finances or purely local matters. It is expected that a regular deluge will flood the desks of the clerks of both houses this morning.

MEN'S MEETING

A men's meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Westminister Building of the Second Presbyterian Church. A feature will be a special musical program. McKinley Cornwell will sing a solo. A quartet from the Sunday School choir will also sing. A fine lecture is promised and those in charge of the meeting extend a cordial invitation to all men to attend.

VICTORIOUS TWICE

A. H. S. Cops Double Header From Warrenton Teams in Armory Last Night

Alexandria High School won a double victory last night over the basket ball teams from the Warrenton High School. The girls game was first on the program and was won easily, the score being at the end, 17 to 5. The boys then stepped in to receive their portion of the glory and also to take revenge upon the team which, earlier in the season had handed them a defeat. This they did to the tune of nearly 3 to 1 or to be exact the score was 28 to 12.

Pettit made the first points, when he caged one in the first 15 seconds of play. From this time till the end of the game the local high school boys played rings around the visitors.

Dreifus and Midkiff, Ramage and Dyson all played a fine game and it goes without saying that Pettit did his share in every minute of the game. The main feature of the game was the close guarding of Possum Dyson and the spectacular one hand shots of Blues Pettit, and Dreifus' seven floor baskets.

Warrenton never rallied and never had a chance to rally, so close were they guarded and so swift were the passes around them that they hardly knew whether they were coming or going.

University Extension

Lecture by Miss Pidgeon Postponed Until Monday Night

Miss Elizabeth Pidgeon, Extension Instructor of the University of Virginia met those interested in the course on "Citizenship and Virginia Government" at the Chamber of Commerce last night at which time plans for the future lectures were arranged. The opening lecture was postponed until next Monday evening when it will be given at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p. m. The subject of this lecture is one of special interest at this time while our legislature is in session. It will cover in detail the subject of "How a Law is Passed," and will bring up many interesting phases of State Legislation. The lectures of this course are open to both men and women, and it is highly desirable that there should be a good attendance. It was decided to hold the weekly lectures on Monday and Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce. Those who failed to meet Miss Pidgeon last night are reminded that they will not have missed a lecture if they attend on Monday evening.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE

Frank Baltimore and Waverly Lucas, Both Colored, Charged With Violation of Prohibition Law

Frank Baltimore, colored, arrested by Sergt Campbell and Policemen Lawrence Padgett, charged with an alleged violation of the state prohibition law, was acquitted in the police court today. The officers at Baltimore's lunchroom found a number of bottles each containing only a small amount of whisky. Balitmore said his place of business and residence are combined at 318 North Henry street and that some of the whiskey had been bought by him and some given him for his own personal use exclusively. He denied ever having sold any. He was represented by Attorney Carl Budwesky.

Waverly Lucas, colored, also arrested by the same officers for an alleged infraction of the state prohibition law, was acquitted. The police offered as evidence a glass jar containing half a gallon of corn liquor which they found at his residence on North Payne street. Lucas told the court he purchased it in Washington and was not engaged in its sale. He also was acqquitted. Attorney W. S. Snow represented the accused.

Alexandria Defended

(An answer to I. M. Muddy)

Alexandria as she is
Is good enough for me.
Still a Greater Alexandria
Is what I long to see.
I hope that Alexandria will Grow until the day,
When King Street
Will shine like old Broadway.

And the Schools of Alexandria
Can be built so grand
They will compete with any
Other school through the land,
For she has given me my living
And I have always said with pride
That dear old Alexandria
Is the place where I reside.

Confound a man who will Knock instead
Of boosting the city
Where he earns his daily bread.
Shun the pessimist who Always wears a frown,
And goes around kicking
On every single thing in town.

Alexandria may have bad streets,
And be behind the times,
But with all the hard times
She has had no bread lines.
Don't criticise Alexandria
To every one you see.
But try to make the city
What you think it ought to be.

BOOSTER

A. L. I. vs. Washington Arrows

The Washington Arrows will be entertained at the Armory Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by the A. L. I., basketball team. This team is rated as one of ring leaders of Washington and a hot game is expected.

The A. L. I., are trying to arrange a fast game for Wednesday, with the Aloysius five of Washington, and if this team can be booked it will be a treat to the Alexandria fans.

The biggest game of the season will be staged Saturday, the 25th, the A. L. I., opposing the fast Yankee outfit of Washington. The Yankees defeated the soldier boys last Saturday by fifteen points and the A. L. I. team will be in top condition when they face the champions of the District. The game will start promptly at 8:15.

Tonight an interesting game will be staged between the Old Dominion Boat Club and the Epiphany five, runners-up for the championship of the District, game starting at 8:15.

Last night the Alexandria High School defeated the Warrenton basketball team in the Armory by the score of 28 to 12. The all round work of the Higgh School five featured the game.

Mary Miles Minter

Mary Miles Minter, film actress, whose letters, found by the police in the home of William Desmond Taylor, slain film director, were full of passionate love for the popular director of the screen, has been confined to her bed since his death. Miss Minter is one of the figures whose names have been drawn into the great murder mystery which is baffling the police and detectives.

improved, according to the arrangements, had agreed to bear their part of the cost of the installation which would be paid for at the rate of about $2 a front foot and that sixty per cent of the cost would be borne by the Alexandria County Lighting Company, the merchants paying the remainder or forty per cent. That he explained was the chief reason why it was not carried further. The lighting company he added was not for the present willing to go beyond Patrick street and that if it were carried beyond Patrick street he said it looked as if the city government would have to stand most of the cost and it would not be fair to those who already have paid.

Alderman Summers asked the city engineer if lights were not needed on other streets besides King street. Mr. Dunn declared the lights are put up for the greatest good to the greatest number, adding that all would like to see plenty of lights all over the city. Mr. Dunn also explained that the movement would have to have a start and he said he believed it ought to be given to those who pay the most taxes.

J. William May, of the chamber of commerce, was given the floor. Mr. May said he was the original author to establish a better lighting system on King street.

Mr. May also explained the work done by E. A. Feldtkeller, superintendent of the Alexandria County Lighting Company, in perfecting the plans for the white way, and he said that he thought the white way eventually would be extended westward on King Street to the Union Station.

Alderman Wilkins said he favored the measure, and approved doing part at a time like the city paving was done.

Both Aldermen Rammel and Batcheller thought the people on King Street should be encouraged in this proposition and that it should not be blocked at this time as it will be about the last important thing the present council will do before it ceases September 1. Alderman Anderson also spoke in favor of the measure.

The measure is now recommitted to the committee from whence it came and it may be up again for action in the near future it is thought. The ordinance providing for the transfer of poles in connection with the proposed white way also went over.

Te Aldermen concurred in the following resolutions which were adopted by the common council Tuesday. Resolution appropriating $85,000 for erection of new public school building; city gas works to borrow $15,000; appropriation of $1,400 to meet deficit in the fire department.

Amherst—Miss T. J. Ambler, school nurse, reports that the fund for dental clinics throughout the country is growing. A good many schools in the county have contributed $1 per room, and others are raising their quotas. A few schols, not realizing the necessity of co-operation in undertakings of this kind, have refused their quotas, but it is hoped that before long they will realize the importance of this work.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

February 22nd, George Washington's Birthday, will be appropriately celebrated by the Knights of Columbus. The Honorable R. Walton Moore, member of Congress from this district, will be the principal speaker at the celebration which will be held at the Lyceum Hall at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and the general public is invited to be present to hear Representative Moore speak. The entertainment committee has also arranged for a musical program, and the committee anticipates a large number of people in attendance at the Lyceum on the evening of the celebration.

The grand knight of the council, William A. DeVaughan, is confined to his homee with a slight case of grip. Not only the grand knight, but our deputy grand knight, too, has had to lose several days from duty this week on account of an indisposition resulting from the severe weather that has visited us during the past week. We trust that both these brothers will soon enjoy a complete restoration of the good health they have ben enjoying prior to this recent sickness.

The Fourth Degree Assembly of the order will hold a card party at the K. of C. Clubrooms on the 28th of February. The euchre parties of the K. of C. are always well patronized, and in all probabilities a considerable number will be on hand on this coming occasion.

All members of the local council of Knights of Columbus should keep in mind the Annual Communion Sunday for the members of the order. Next Sunday, February 26th, is the date, and everybody is expected to be on hand and occupy seats in the iddle aisle at the seven o'clock mass.

Loyal Order of Moose

Virginia Lodge 1076 Loyal Order of Moose meets every Monday night, 7:30 p. m. at McBurney's Hall, King and Washington Street, 3rd floor.

On February 22nd George Washington's birthday, Virginia Lodge will hold a Moose Endowment Ball, good music promised.

The following statement came from Mooseheart on February 1:

There are now 1,092 children and 77 widowed mothers at Mooseheart.

The cost of keeping a child at Mooseheart has been decreased to about $700 the year. It should be explained that about $250.00 of this cost is for the Mooseheart school system.

Chicago high schools are going to establish the vocation of cement and ornamental concrete, and their first two instructors will be Mooseheart graduates.

The adaptability of Mooseheart high school girls was demonstrated a few weeks ago when 41 of them took charge of that many classes of younger students, while the teachers were absent at a special meeting.

The girls in Progress Hall at Mooseheart, wanting to make good use of their free time, banded together into a club and named it "Happy Workers." They use their own money to buy material and then without help cut and make dresses for the girls in the baby nursery.

Mooseheart's 70 cows give 700 quarts of milk a day. Sixty cows which were not giving milk were sold.

Twenty-five boys are now taking agriculture.

The death rate at Mooseheart for the year 1921 was 1.2 per cent. There were 13 deaths and only one occurred during the last six months of the year. The average number of children was 1,035 a day. The average death rate in cities among children nine years of age and younger is 30 per cent and Mooseheart's record is 28.8 per cent lower. First in the Mooseheart scheme is the purpose of keeping children in a vigorous state of health. Seven of these deaths resulted during a statewide epidemic of pneumonia and measles. During the year 1921 there were 354 cases of contagious diseases at Mooseheart as follows: Measles, 235; chicken pox, 69; mumps, 34; whooping cough, 11; diphtheria, 3; scarlet fever, 2.

There were 1,861 patients in Mooseheart Memorial Hospital in 1921. It should be understood that children are taken to the hospital when they have so-called slight colds, fevers, etc. Mooseheart believes in prevention of sickness.

Bad Eye-Sight National Danger Says Coolidge

BAD eye-sight is as dangerous to the nation as it is to the individual.

Such is the warning in the interest of universal eye conservation just issued by Vice President Coolidge.

The man, whose clear sight read the peril in the Boston police strike and whose firm hand throttled the threatened anarchy, sees the need of mechanical and spiritual vision in America.

"It has been said that trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle," Vice President Coolidge states. "This is the standard of present day accomplishment. It is not enough that a person be able to perform a certain operation, it must be well performed.

"When it is understood that the clearness of mental operations depends upon the clearness of perception, it follows as a matter of course that unless there be clear vision there cannot be clear judgment. To lack the senses is to lack intelligence.

"The clear result of defective vision is, in the first place, inability to perform the mechanical operations in the various trades and walks of life successfully; and, in the second place, inability to develop the reasoning powers to their full capacity. It is no accident that in early languages to see was to know. A person and a nation, to be successful, to have that mechanical and spiritual vision which makes for progress, must be able to see."

ALICE CALHOUN IN "THE LITTLE MINISTER"

All the atmosphere and charm of James M. Barrie has been maintained in Vitagraph's "The Little Minister." The characters were selected because of physical fitness on the part of the players to interpret the roles of the story. Alice Calhoun and Jimmy Morrison were employed in the principal roles because they were the living personalities of Lady Babbie and Gavin Dishart.

"She Shall Not Go"

Babbie, the gypsy girl, had a faculty of turning up at the most unexpected times and aiding the poor. She was a mystery in Thrums. Some called her a witch, but she had a way of bewitching the hearts of those around her. Gavin Dishart fell victim to her power, against his will. It is a picturization of one of the greatest novels ever written, with a star that is a perfect Lady Babbie.

Ragnarok—"The Twilight of the Gods," the day of doom, when the present world and all its inhabitants will be annihilated.

WITH THE WISHING FAIRY

by CORINNE

Stella and Her Shrimp Brownies See a Ribbonfish.

IN our last story you may remember we heard how Stella had changed her three Brownies, Snookums, Kinkajou and Pimzie, into Shrimp, and how they with their beloved Wishing Fairy were swimming down through the ocean depths on their "curiosity trip." They had been awfully interested seeing the many Fish that crossed their sea path because, though most of them were more or less the same silvery color of the water, they had noticed many that sported brilliant red, purple and orange shades with all manner of streaks and spots; in fact, they were so interested they never realized that they were just a wee bit tired until Stella had suggested a rest.

They promptly allowed themselves to sink down—down—down, and, presently they found themselves floating above what looked like a beautiful garden.

It was a garden, but one that we Humans are not permitted to enjoy, for it was the ocean garden of the deep.

There was an amazing thickness of plants with long, graceful, waving branches; though an astonishing thing about this garden was that while some of these plants were living vegetable growths, there were just as many that were in reality plant animals, and the strangest part of it all was that it seemed impossible to tell them apart! They, too, were attached to rocks and some of them even seemed to be made of white, pink, red or black rock. (These were the Corallines.) There were other animal plants that looked for all the world like flowering cucumbers or bunches of celery, and these waved their exquisitely plumed arms around in their never ending search of food.

Starfish clung in grotesque position to pebbles and sand, some hungrily exploring the water, their many tube feet pushing, groping and reaching for the tiny sea creatures that they loved so much to eat; while other Starfish moved here and there by way of their roundabout car wheel motions. There were tiny strange creatures floating to and fro, trailing dainty clusters of filaments and others that looked for all the world like feather flowers perched atop slender stems. The Shrimp that had been Brownies for once in their lives couldn't speak—they were much too interested gazing at the miracles of the sea grouped everywhere around. Suddenly a long thin streak of shining silver swam toward them.

"What can that be?" the Shrimp that had been Pimzie asked Stella in astonishment. At least twenty feet in length, its slender body was not so much as an inch through from side to side, and it really seemed like some glorious, glimmering ribbon except for its rosy, pink fins that stroked the water.

"That," said the Fairy, "is a Ribbonfish, and it can only be found in deep water."

It was deep water, for were they not on the very floor of the ocean? Pimzie looked around and everywhere he saw Fish, their outstretched fins resting quietly on the sand, never moving as much as a muscle or fin. They seemed lifeless or unreal. The Shrimp that had been Pimzie choked back a sob, for his End-of-the-Earth home seemed ever so far away and ever so dear in its distance, and he edged closer to Stella for comfort.

BOOKS AND PRINTING

The first lead or graphic pencil was made in England in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The wood of 500 trees must be manufactured into paper to provide material for the publication of a novel that reaches a circulation of 25,000 copies.

In addition to that mode from wood and rags, paper is now manufactured from fifty kinds of bark, banana skins, bean stalks, pea vines, cocoanut fiber, clover, hay, straw, weeds seaweeds and more than 150 kinds of grasses.

The largest book in the world, an atlas in the British Museum, weighes nearly a ton.

Ten thousand gross steel pens can be made from one ton of metal.

During the more than a century of its existence the British Foreign Bible Society has distributed more than 25,000,000 copies of the Bible in more than 400 languages and dialects.

Paper was first made of straw at Meadville, Pa., in 1828.

The use of a blank space in separating words in writing was not begun until the tenth century.

Printing in raised characters for the blind has been in use more than 130 years.

Richmond—The stirring days of the War Between the States were lived all over again at Amelia Tuesday, when three octogenarians, all veterans of the war of '61, had dinner together there. Rev. Virginius Wrenn, rector of the Episcopal Church at Amelia, was host to two of his Confederate friends, John Syme Fleming, and W. R. Dunnavant.

Richmond—Permission to undertake municipal ownership of any public utility that it desires, is sought by the city of Portsmouth in a bill introduced yesterday in the Senate by its representative, Senator W. C. Corbitt. The bill was drawn and forwarded to Senator Corbitt by the Portsmouth City Council and introduced at its request.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mary M. Butler, who died 6 years ago today, February 18, 1922.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled
God in His wisdom has recalled,
The boon his love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

Her daughter,
Mrs. J. W. Allen.

our dead bodies."

The vote came after two days of strenuous debate in the House of Commons, during which another combined attempt on the part of the Ulsterites and Unionist "die hards" to kill the treaty was ineffectively made.

Colonial Secretary Churchill opened the debate with what some of the London newspapers termed the greatest oratorical effort of his career.

During the debate Austin Chamberlain, the Government leader, revealed to the House that at one point in the negotiations with Eamonn de Valera the Government thought the struggle in Ireland would have to be renewed and that the Government at that time communicated with military and police advisers concerning requirements for bringing the struggle to a successful conclusion.

He said the Government was prepared, if no other way possible, to raise 100,000 men, in addition to putting all available troops into Ireland, and to wage this most cruel form of war month after month if necessary. Therefore, he argued, the Government had a right to try and see if there were other honorable means of accord still open.

their S street home for the present and have made no arrangments what ever to take any trips whatever. The former President's health is improving all the time, but it not believed that he is in any condition to stand the fatigue incident to a trip away from the National Capital.

If William Jennings Bryan, now a citizen of Florida, expected Senator Park Trammell of that state to get out of his way and join with the Democrats of that state in offering him the United States Senatorship on a silver platter, free of all encumbrances and without even a contest, the same Mr. Bryan was more mistaken than he ever was in his whole political career.

"While I have not announced my intention to become a candidate," said Senator Trammell, "there is no doubt but that I will stand for re-election. Never before have I found the sentiment so generally in my favor. Not only do I expect to run for the Democratic nomination on June 6, but I expect to get it."

It is expected that with the return to Washington on Monday of Postmaster General Will H. Hays he will formally send in his resignation to the President. The President declared today that he had already dcided upon a successor to Mr. Hays but could make no announcements of the fact until after Hay's formal resignation had reached him. In well informed circles it is conceded that Mr. Hay's successor will be Dr. Hubert Work, at present first Assistant Postmaster General: Dr. Work has been endorsed for the place by practically the entire Republican membership of both Senate and House. He has had immediate supervision over the appointment of postmasters throughout the country and has been zealous in turning out Democrats and giving their places to Republicans. That is why there was such universal satisfaction displayed in filing endorsements for his elevation to the Postmaster Generalship.

The reorganization of the government departments in Washington is a problem which is giving the President and members of his Cabinet no end of trouble. It was announced today that not half the members of the Cabinet are yet agreed upon a plan of reorganization and it was pointed out that until the executives had come to an understanding over the question it would be useless for the Chief Executive to go before Congress with any half hearted program for a shift in government agencies which it is hoped might result in greater economies.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE.
Alexandria Women Have Learned the Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all backaches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well recommended by Alexandria people. Ask your neighbor! Read this case:

Mrs. Chas. Cook, 410 Queen St., Alexandria, says: "After an attack of the "flu" my kidneys were left in bad shape. My back pained me so I was in misery all the time. It seemed as though a dagger were being thrust into my kidneys. Mornings I was tired and worn out and felt like giving up. A friend saw the condition I was in and told me what a wonderful remedy Doan's Kidney Pills are. I sent to Creighton's Drug Store for some. Doan's fixed me up all right in a short time. The pains all left

Horizontal Lines Also Play Their Part in Necessary Emphasis

To continue the talk on line begun in my last article: If a room has architectural defects. If it is too narrow, or too long for your tastes. If the ceiling is too austerely high, or if it seemingly rests upon shoulders through lack of height, call in the kind allies, lines perpendicular, or horizontal, according to the need.

To demonstrate. If your room is narrow with possibly a window in its short wall, horizontal lines used in the window treatment will give the impression of the room being wider than it is.

The eye will travel back and forth across the horizontal lines on the curtains such as those shown in today's sketch, and being prone to exaggerate as I stated the eye was in my last article, it will make the brain believe that greater width exists than is there and by thus over emphasizing one of the dimensions the other will be minimized.

Thus if a ceiling is too high horizontal lines placed on the walls will tend to make it seem lower. The eye will travel these horizontal lines, they will be over emphasized in the brain and because they are, the great height of the walls will be lost sight of, only the impression of horizontal areas remaining.

Senate

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:45 p. m. until noon Monday.

Passed House bill paving the way for the War Department to complete acquisition of real estate at a number of army camps and supply bases taken over during the extension of war facilities.

A bill granting disabled emergency officers of the army the same status with respect to retirement as officers of the regular army was debated, but not acted upon.

Under the terms of a resolution introduced by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, the agriculture committee would be instructed to investigate charges that the fertilizer industry is controlled by corporations, constituting a monopoly, and have employed agents, attorneys and lobbyists in Washington to lobby against the approval of the Henry Ford offer for the Muscle Shoals project.

The President transmitted from the budget bureau supplemental estimates of $550,000 for alterations and enlargements of the Western High school and $25,000 for additional fire apparatus.

The finance committee postponed final action on various valuation plans for assessing tariff duties pending a

SELL YOUR HOUSE IN 60 DAYS

Want to sell your house within the next month or 60 days?

Have a talk with Mr. Benton at the Lyon Park real estate office and he will tell you of our special plan for quick results. We'll soon be selling an average of a house a day at the rate we have started 1922. And of course, you want to list your house with the organization that is producing results.

A House a Day

That's a big record of sales, but we're equipped to establish it. It's up to the home-owners, who really want to call, to supply us with good houses in good locations at reasonable prices. We'll do the rest.

Our service is characterized by quick sales. But naturally we don't devote a great deal of our time to houses that are over-priced. We get the bargains and then we sell them. If you have a bargain, we'll sell it for YOU and sell it quickly.

Get your price down. Get your terms down. Then talk with Mr. Benton and he will tell you how to sell your house in 60 days or less.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR A HOME—

Then this is the office through which you should buy. We serve both parties to the deal—the seller by disposing of his house in a hurry, the buyer by getting him a bargain.

In any event, drop in at our Lyon Park office and see Mr. Benton. You know where Lyon Park is—between Hatfield and Clarendon on the Falls Church branch of the Washington-Virginia Railway. Office right at the station.

My organization has sold $250,000 worth of land in Lyon Park in 1921. Now I've added another department there devoted exclusively to the sale of houses in nearby Virginia. It's in charge of Mr. Benton, who has specialized in the sale of Virginia property for many years. And it's making a record in Arlington County.
